Kim Mosley, art professor, has been selected as the 1996 David L. Underwood Lecture Award recipient. He is the 21st in a line of distinguished recipients of the award.

Mosley received a master’s degree in fine arts from Bradley University and a bachelor’s degree from the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign.

Since 1975, Mosley has enhanced the Florissant Valley campus with his excellent and innovative teaching ideas. Mosley is an accomplished artist with numerous and impressive exhibits to his credit. In addition, he is a published author and his accomplishments include several published workbooks for studying photography. Currently, Mosley keeps busy by creating a Florissant Valley web page for the Internet.

The title of his talk is Confessions of a Post-Technological Primitive.

David L. Underwood, a former Florissant Valley dean of instruction, was known for his love of education. He was deeply concerned with the welfare of students and staff alike. His dedication went beyond office hours -- and he tirelessly gave of his time and talents to further the educational mission at Florissant Valley. Recipients of the Underwood Memorial Lecture Award demonstrate the same dedication and commitment. Chosen by a committee of peers, recipients exhibit excellence in instruction and a genuine, humanistic concern for students, faculty, staff -- and all of education.
